THE VENUE

LOLA, although you would never know, is housed in one of the oldest surviving railway station buildings in Victoria. The entire building which extends from Fitzroy Street back to the Metropol Apartment building was originally, from 1857 - 1987, known as the St Kilda railway station. In 2002 the Metropol Apartments were completed and the station building was converted into hospitality venues.

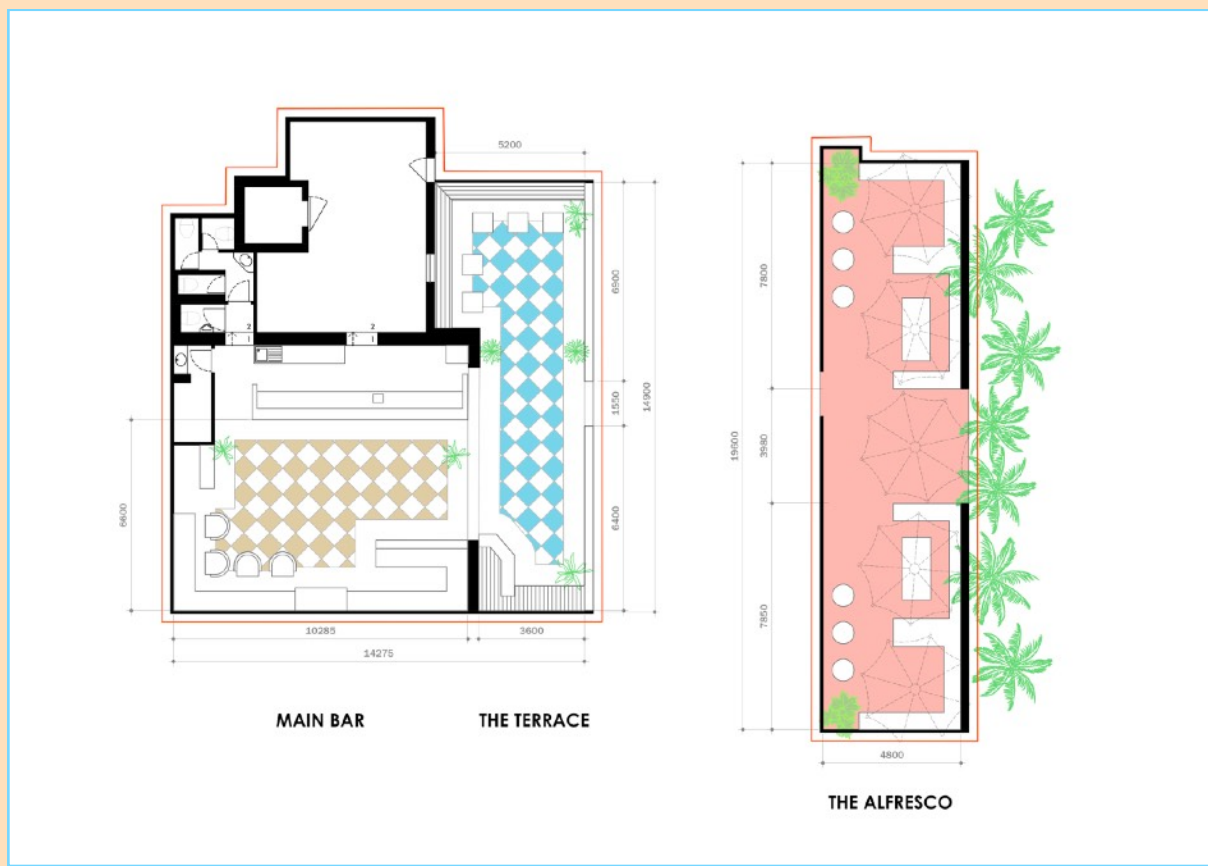

LOLA has just undergone a complete refurbishment. We drew our inspiration from the Mediterranean summer. We wanted to create something luxe, something with a 1970s European summer feel while maintaining a distinctly St Kilda vibe. Cue LOLA...

From the moment you approach the venue, you are immediately struck by the giant palms behind our umbrella covered alfresco area. Head through the gates into the diamond checkered floor terrace and into LOLA. Natural stone, wood and mirrors compliment and complete the space.

LOLA provides you with the perfect space for any event. Featuring a fully equipped state-of-the-art AV system, including DJ booth, projector, 3m screen microphone and fully integrated sound system which can be controlled from multiple inputs for our various areas.
